Last Man Standing Rules

1. Players pay their entry fee before the competition starts, and don't need to pay again. Some of the fee goes to support the club or charity running the competition, and the rest goes into the pot to be won.
2. Each week, players simply pick a team playing a match that week – if their team wins, they go through; lose or draw and they're out.
3. A player can only pick a team to win once in a competition, so they should be tactical about who they pick and when.
4. All selections must be in 15 minutes before kick off of the first match — they can be changed up to this deadline.
5. Rounds of fixtures may take place on weekends or mid-week.
6. If a team's game is postponed, players who chose them are automatically put through to the next round.
7. If players forget to pick a team before each round's deadline, we'll randomly pick one for them for that round.
8. The Last Man Standing continues until only one person remains and wins the pot. If two participants remain at the end, the pot is equally distributed; however, if more than two remain everyone goes through to the next round. If all remaining players lose their match in a round together, they all go through to the next round.
